Annex 1

(Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016,
effective 26.05.2016)

METHODOLOGY

for Determining the Voting Results and Allocation of the Seats upon Elections of National Representatives

I. General Dispositions

1.1. This Methodology defines the computation procedures according to which the seats for National Representatives are allocated by constituency upon elections of National Representatives for a National Assembly (NA) and for a Grand National Assembly (GNA).

1.2. This Methodology defines the computation procedures according to which 240 seats or, respectively, 400 seats for a GNA, are allocated to the independent candidates and the parties and coalitions in the multi-member constituencies.

1.3. The seats for National Representatives will be conclusively allocated by the Central Election Commission (CEC).

II. Determining the Number of Seats in the Multi-member Constituencies

2.1. The number of seats in the multi-member constituencies (MMCs) will be determined on the basis of a uniform ratio of representation for the entire country depending on the size of the population in each MMC according to data provided by the National Statistical Institute on the basis of the results of the latest population census.

2.2. The number of seats in a MMC may not be lesser than 4 or, respectively, 6 for a GNA.

2.3. The Hare-Niemeyer Method will be used for determining the number of seats in a MMC.

2.4. The size of the population for the entire country according to data provided by the National Statistical Institute on the basis of the results of the latest population census will be divided by 240 or, respectively, by 400 for a GNA, and the resulting quotient will define the uniform ratio of representation for the country.

2.5. The size of the population for each MMC will be divided by the uniform ratio of representation for the country.

2.6. Initially, each MMC will be awarded as many seats as is the integer part of the quotient under Item 2.5.

2.7. The remaining seats up to 240 or, respectively, 400 for a GNA, will be allocated to the MMCs with the greatest remainders (the fractional part of the quotient under Item 2.5).

2.8. The first to be awarded an additional seat will be the MMC with the greatest remainder, the second to be awarded an additional seat will be the MMC with the next greatest remainder, and so on until exhaustion of the seats.

2.9. Where the procedure referred to in Item 2.8 cannot continue owing to the presence of equal remainders whose number is greater than the number of the remaining unallocated seats, any such seats will be allocated by the CEC by lots. The date and hour of the drawing of the lots will be determined by the CEC. Representatives of the parties, coalitions and nomination committees, observers and members of the mass communication media may be present at the drawing of the lots.

2.10. The provisional number of seats for each MMC will be the sum total of the seats initially awarded under Item 2.6 plus up to one additional seat under Items 2.8 and 2.9. If the number of seats in all MMCs is not lesser than 4 or, respectively, 6 for a GNA, proceed to Item 2.15.

2.11. If the number of seats in any MMC is lesser than 4 or, respectively, 6 for a GNA, additional seats will be allocated to that MMC so that this MMC would be awarded 4 or, respectively, 6 seats. This MMC will be excluded from the further allocation of seats.

2.12. The number of MMCs under Item 2.11, multiplied by 4 or, respectively, by 6 for a GNA, will be subtracted from the number 240 or, respectively, 400 for a GNA.

2.13. The sum total of the population in the MMCs under Item 2.11 will be subtracted from the size of the population under Item 2.11.

2.14. The number of seats under Item 2.12 will be allocated by analogy to the MMCs, with the exception of the MMCs under Item 2.11 according to the procedures from Item 2.2. to Item 2.15, with the size of the population in Item 2.4 being replaced by the number under Item 2.13, and the number 240 or, respectively, 400 for a GNA in Item 2.4. and Item 2.7 being replaced by the number under Item 2.12.

2.15. The conclusive number of seats for each MMC will be the result obtained from the computation procedure according to Item 2.6 to Item 2.14.

III. Determining the Seats of the Independent Candidates in the Multi-member Constituencies

3.1. If independent candidate nomination committees are registered in the MMC, the constituency election commissions will determine a constituency electoral quota. The constituency electoral quota equals the quotient resulting from the division of the total number of valid votes cast in the MMC by the number of the seats determined for that constituency under Item 2.15.

3.2. If an independent candidate, registered in the respective MMC, has gained valid votes that are not less than the constituency electoral quota under Item 3.1, such candidate will be considered elected and will be awarded a seat in the respective MMC.

3.3. The seat awarded under Item 3.2 will be subtracted from the number of seats determined for the respective MMC under Item 2.15 and will be excluded from the subsequent allocation of seats according to the proportional representation system in the multi-member constituencies.

IV. Determining the Seats according to the Proportional Representation System in the Multi-member Constituencies

4.1. The number of allocable proportional-representation seats in 31 MMCs equals the difference between all 240 seats, respectively 400 seats for a GNA, and the number of seats awarded to the independent candidates under Item 3.2.

4.2. The number of proportional-representation seats for each MMC equals the number of seats under Item 2.15 less the number of seats awarded to independent candidates under Item 3.2.

4.3. The Central Election Commission will perform the calculations for the allocation of all proportional-representation seats under this Section to candidate lists of parties and coalitions in the MMCs.

4.4. Allocation of the seats to each party and coalition at the national level: first step:

4.4.1. (Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016, effective 26.05.2016) calculate the sum total of valid votes cast within Bulgaria and abroad, excluding those referred to in Item 6 of Article 279 (1) herein;

4.4.2. calculate 4 per cent of the sum under Item 4.4.1;

4.4.3. limit the allocation of the proportional-representation seats under Item 4.2 to the parties and coalitions which have gained valid votes that are not less than the number under Item 4.4.2;

4.4.4. limit the further allocation of the seats to the votes for the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3;

4.4.5. allocate the seats under Item 4.2 for the country to the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 according to the valid votes they have gained, using the Hare-Niemeyer Method;

4.4.6. divide the sum total of the valid votes for all parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.4 by the number of seats under Item 4.2 (Hare quota);

4.4.7. divide the valid votes gained by each party and coalition under Item 4.4.3 by the number arrived at under Item 4.4.6;

4.4.8. award each party and coalition under Item 4.4.3 initially as many seats as is the integer part of the quotient arrived at under Item 4.4.7;

4.4.9. allocate the remaining seats up to the number of seats determined in Item 4.2 to the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 in descending order of the fractional part (the remainders) of the quotient arrived at under Item 4.4.7;

4.4.10. award an additional seat first to the party or coalition with the greatest remainder, then award an additional seat to the party or coalition with the next greatest remainder, and so on until exhaustion of the seats;

4.4.11. if the procedure under Item 4.4.10 arrives at two or more equal remainders and the number of unallocated seats is lesser than the number of these remainders, allocate the remaining seats by lots drawn between the parties or coalitions with equal remainders: the date and hour of the drawing of the lots will be determined by the CEC; representatives of the parties, coalitions and nomination committees, observers and members of the mass communication media may be present at the drawing of the lots;

4.4.12. the conclusive number of proportional-representation seats at the national level for each party and coalition equals the number of seats awarded under Item 4.4.8 plus one additional seat under Item 4.4.10 and Item 4.4.11.

4.5. Allocation of the seats in the multi-member constituencies to the parties and coalitions that have won seats: second step:

4.5.1. The Central Election Commission will perform the calculations for the allocation of the seats under Item 4.2 in all 31 MMCs to the parties and coalitions that have been awarded seats under Item 4.4.12;

4.5.2. exclude the votes cast abroad for the parties and coalitions from the allocation of seats in the MMC;

4.5.3. for each MMC, calculate the sum total of the valid votes cast in all sections separately for each party and coalition under Item 4.4.3;

4.5.4. for each MMC, calculate the sum total of the valid votes cast for the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3;

4.5.5. allocate the seats under Item 4.2 for each MMC separately according to the valid votes gained by the parties and coalitions in the constituency, using the Hare-Niemeyer Method;

4.5.6. divide the sum total under Item 4.5.4. by the number of seats awarded under Item 4.2 (Hare quota);

4.5.7. divide the valid votes gained by the party or coalition under Item 4.4.3 in each MMC by the number arrived at under Item 4.5.6;

4.5.8. award the party or coalition in each MMC initially as many seats as is the integer part of the quotient arrived at under Item 4.5.7;

4.5.9. allocate the remaining seats up to the number of seats determined in Item 4.2 for each MMC in descending order of the fractional part (the remainders) of the quotient arrived at under Item 4.5.7;

4.5.10. in each MMC, allocate the first additional seat to the party or coalition under Item 4.4.3 with the greatest remainder under Item 4.5.7, allocate the second additional seat to a party or coalition under Item 4.4.3 with the next greatest remainder, and so on until exhaustion of all seats for each MMC;

4.5.11. if the procedure under Item 4.4.10 arrives at two or more equal remainders and the number of unallocated seats is lesser than the number of these remainders, allocate the remaining seats to the parties or coalitions under Item 4.4.3 with equal remainders, using the lots already drawn by the CEC to determine the numbers of the parties and coalitions and awarding in the order of the least number;

4.5.12. determine a preliminary number of seats (baseline) for the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 in each MMC, which equals the number of seats initially allocated in the MMC under Item 4.5.8;

4.5.13. determine the remainders (the fractional part) under Item 4.5.7 for each party and coalition under Item 4.4.3 for each MMC, marking the remainders of the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 of the parties and coalitions which have been awarded additional seats under Item 4.5.10 and 4.5.11 in each MMC;

4.5.14. determine a provisional allocation of the seats for each MMC to the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 as a sum total under Item 4.5.8, 4.5.10 and 4.5.11.

4.6. Reallocation of the number of seats provisionally awarded to the parties and coalitions in the multi-member constituencies and conclusive allocation of the seats for National Representatives in the multi-member constituencies: third step:

4.6.1. sum separately the seats provisionally awarded under Item 4.5.14 to each party or coalition under Item 4.4.3;

4.6.2. if all parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 are awarded as many seats as are the seats determined for them according to Item 4.4.12, proceed to Item 4.6.9;

4.6.3. if a party or coalition under Item 4.4.3 has been awarded more than the seats determined for it under Item 4.4.12 but has not been awarded any additional seats and, respectively, does not have marked remainders; mark all remainders for this party or coalition in all MMC where it has been awarded seats with the exception of the MMCs which are excluded from the reallocation under Item 4.6.8;

4.6.4. if a party or coalition under Item 4.4.3 has been awarded fewer than the seats determined for it under Item 4.4.12 but all its non-zero remainders are marked in all MMCs, unmark these remainders in all MMCs with the exception of the MMCs which are excluded from the reallocation under Item 4.6.8;

4.6.5. determine the least remainder under Item 4.5.13 for the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 which have been awarded more than the seats determined for them under Item 4.4.12 only in those MMC where there are marked remainders awarded as additional seats under Hare-Niemeyer or after the reallocation of the seats according to the procedures under Item 4.6.1 to Item 4.6.8 and are not excluded from the reallocation under Item 4.6.8;

4.6.6. if the remainders determined under Item 4.6.5 are two or more, choose the remainder in a MMC of a party or coalition with the least number drawn in the lots for determining the numbering of the parties and coalitions;

4.6.7. if there are any remainders for which seats have not been awarded in the MMC determined under Item 4.6.5 or Item 4.6.6, exclude this MMC from the reallocation and proceed to Item 4.6.5;

4.6.8. in the MMC where the least remainder under Item 4.6.5 or Item 4.6.6 has been determined, reallocate the additional seats under Item 4.5.10 and Item 4.5.11 and, to this end, withdraw the seat from the party or coalition holding it in that MMC, reduce to zero the remainder of that party or coalition and ignore this remainder in subsequent calculations, reduce the total number of seats under Item 4.5.14 for this party or coalition by one and award a seat to a party or coalition in the same MMC which has the next largest remainder for which seats have not been awarded in that MMC; mark this remainder, and increase by one the total number of seats on a national scale for that party or coalition under Item 4.5.14; proceed to Item 4.6.2;

4.6.9. the conclusive allocation of the proportional-representation seats to the parties and coalitions under Item 4.4.3 in the multi-member constituencies will be the final result arrived at by the computation procedures under Item 4.5.12 and from Item 4.6.1 to Item 4.6.8.

V. Individualising Seats by Candidate List

5.1. Where the number of seats for a particular party or coalition is greater than the number of candidates on the candidate list, as many seats will be awarded as is the number of candidates on the list.

5.2. The elected candidates from each candidate list of a party or coalition with X seats won will be determined according to the number of valid preferences received under Article 278 (4) and (5) herein and the ranking of the said candidates on the list.

5.3. The preferences for a particular candidate on the candidate list will be valid if the number of votes received for this candidate is not lesser than 7 per cent of the votes cast for the candidate list.

5.4. Where there are no candidates under Item 5.3, the ranking of the candidate list will be retained.

5.5. Where there are candidates under Item 5.3, they will be ranked according to the number of preferences received, starting from the candidate who has received the largest number of valid preferences. These candidates will be excluded from the candidate list of the respective party or coalition and will comprise List A. If the number of preferences is equal, the order will be determined by lots. The rest of the candidates on the candidate list will retain their initial ranking on the list and will comprise List B.

5.6. The first X candidates from the lists under Item 5.4. or Item 5.5 will be elected.

5.7. The lists under Item 5.4 or Item 5.5 will be retained upon substitution in case of interruption or termination of the term of office of an elected candidate.

VI. Unregulated Matters

6.1. The Central Election Commission will adopt a decision on any unregulated matters.

Annex 2
to Article 312
(Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016,
effective 26.05.2016,
amended, SG No. 85/2016,
effective 28.10.2016)

METHODOLOGY
for Determining the Voting Results upon Elections of President and Vice President of the Republic

1. Calculate the sum total of the votes cast within Bulgaria and abroad for each candidate list for President and Vice President of the Republic, nominated by a party, coalition or nomination committee.

2. (Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016, effective 26.05.2016, amended, SG No. 85/2016, effective 28.10.2016) The pair of candidates, which has gained more than one-half of the valid votes, if more than one-half of the voters have participated in the voting, will be elected.

3. If no list is elected, the Central Election Commission (CEC) will schedule a new election within seven days after the day of the first election.

3.1. The new election will be contested by the two candidate lists which have gained the most votes.

3.2. If more than two candidate lists have gained the most but an equal number of votes, they will all be admitted to contest the new election.

3.3. If one candidate has gained the most votes and two or more candidates have gained the next largest equal number of votes, they will all be admitted to contest the new election.

3.4. If two candidate lists have been admitted to a new election and prior to the election a candidate for President or Vice President on one of the lists dies or falls gravely ill, the CEC will postpone the election and will schedule a new election not later than 14 days after the date of the postponed election. Within three days after the date of the decision of the CEC, the party or nomination committee concerned may register a new candidate.

3.5. If two candidate lists have been admitted to a new election and prior to the new election a candidate on one of the lists withdraws within 24 hours after the declaration of the results of the election conducted, by a decision of the CEC the new election will be contested by the candidate list which has gained the next largest number of votes. If there are no further lists, the National Assembly will schedule a new election of President and Vice President of the Republic.

4. Upon the conduct of a new election, the pair of candidates which has gained the most votes will be elected.

5. If two or more candidate lists have gained the most but an equal number of votes in the new election, no pair of candidates will be elected.

Annex 3
to Article 355
(Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016,
effective 26.05.2016)

METHODOLOGY
for Determining the Voting Results and Allocation of the Seats upon Elections of Members of the European Parliament for the Republic of Bulgaria

I. General Dispositions

1.1. This Methodology uses a Hare-Niemeyer Method (H-NM) for allocation of the seats upon elections of Members of the European Parliament for the Republic of Bulgaria.

1.2. Voting will take place within Bulgaria in separate districts territorially coextensive with the multi-member constituencies (MMCs) upon the elections of National Representatives as last conducted, and abroad.

1.3. The seats will be allocated to candidate lists of parties and coalitions and independent candidates.

1.4. The seats for the candidate lists will be individualised by preferential voting.

II. Condition for Election of Independent Candidate

2.1. (Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016, effective 26.05.2016) An independent candidate will be elected if he or she has gained votes that are not less than the number of all valid votes, excluding those referred to in Item 6 of Article 279 (1) herein, divided by the number E of the Members of the European Parliament for the Republic of Bulgaria as at the date of the election. For 2014 the number E is 17.

III. Condition for Inclusion of a Party and Coalition

3.1. Candidate lists, which have gained votes that are not less than the number under Item 2.1, will be included in the allocation of seats.

IV. Allocation of Seats by List

4.1. The number of seats that will be allocated to the candidate lists under Item 3.1 according to the H-NM. This number, M, equals E less the number of independent candidates elected under Item 2.1. The candidate list is filled when as many seats as is the number of candidates on it have been allocated to it.

4.2. Each candidate list is awarded a fractional number of seats equal to the number M multiplied by the number of votes for the list and divided by the sum total of the votes of all lists under Item 3.1. The fractional seat is a sum total of an integer part (a non-negative integer) and a remainder (a non-negative number lesser than 1).

4.3. Each candidate list will be awarded a number of seats equal to the integer part of the fractional number of seats plus up to one additional seat depending on the value of the remainder.

4.4. If the number of seats allocated under Item 4.1. is lesser than or equal to the number of candidates on all candidate lists, the procedure will be completed.

4.5. If the seats allocated to a particular candidate list under Item 4.1 outnumber the candidates on this list, it will be conclusively awarded as many seats as is the number of these candidates and will be excluded after that. The filled lists will be excluded as well. If all lists are excluded, the procedure will be completed.

V. Individualising Seats by List

5.1. The seats under Section IV will be individualised by preferential voting.

5.2. The elected candidates from each candidate list of a party or coalition with X seats won will be determined according to the number of valid preferences received and the ranking of the said candidates on the list.

5.3. The preferences for a particular candidate on the candidate list will be valid if the number of votes received for the candidate is not lesser than 5 per cent of the votes cast for the candidate list.

5.4. Where there are no candidates under Item 5.3, the ranking of the candidate list will be retained.

5.5. Where there are candidates under Item 5.3, they will be ranked according to the number of preferences received, starting from the candidate who has received the largest number of valid preferences. These candidates will be excluded from the candidate list of the respective party or coalition and will comprise List A. If the number of preferences is equal, the order will be determined by lots. The rest of the candidates on the candidate list will retain their initial ranking on the list and will comprise List B.

5.6. The first X candidates from the lists under Item 5.4. or Item 5.5 will be elected.

5.7. The lists under Item 5.4 or 5.5 will be retained upon substitution in case of termination of the term of office of an elected candidate.

VI. Unregulated Matters

6.1. The Central Election Commission will adopt a decision on any unregulated matters.

Annex 4

to Article 452 (1)
(Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016,
effective 26.05.2016,
amended, SG No. 85/2016,
effective 28.10.2016)

METHODOLOGY for Determining the Results of Voting for Mayors

1. This Methodology determines the results of the election of municipality mayor, borough mayor or mayoralty mayor.

2. The sum total of the votes cast in the constituency will be calculated for each candidate for mayor.

3. (Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016, effective 26.05.2016, amended, SG No. 85/2016, effective 28.10.2016) The candidate who has gained more than one-half of the valid votes in the constituency will be elected.

4. If no candidate is elected, the Central Election Commission (CEC) will schedule a second round within seven days after the day of the first election.

4.1. The second round will be contested by the two candidates who have gained the most votes.

4.2. If more than two candidates have gained the most but an equal number of votes, they will all be admitted to contest a second round.

4.3. If one candidate has gained the most votes and two or more candidates have gained the next largest equal number of votes, they shall all be admitted to contest the second round.

5. In the second round, the candidate who has gained the most votes will be elected.

6. If two or more candidates have gained the most but an equal number of votes in the second round, no candidate will be elected.

Annex 5

to Article 453 (1)
(Amended and supplemented, SG No. 39/2016,
effective 26.05.2016)

METHODOLOGY for Determining the Voting Results and Allocation of the Seats upon Elections of Municipal Councillors

I. General Dispositions

1.1. This Methodology uses a Hare-Niemeyer Method (H-NM) for allocation of the seats upon elections of municipal councillors.

1.2. Voting will take place within the territory of the municipalities.

1.3. The seats will be allocated to candidate lists of parties and coalitions and independent candidates.

1.4. The seats for the candidate lists will be individualised by preferential voting.

II. Independent Candidates

2.1. (Supplemented, SG No. 39/2016, effective 26.05.2016) An independent candidate will be elected if he or she has received a number of votes that is not lesser than the number of valid votes in the municipality, excluding those referred to in Item 7 of Article 438 (1) herein, divided by the number of municipal councillors in the Municipal Council.

III. Inclusion of Parties and Coalitions

3.1. The parties and coalitions, which have received votes than are not less than the votes needed for the election of an independent candidate under Section II, will be included in the allocation of seats.

IV. Allocation of Seats to the Parties and Coalitions

4.1. Candidate lists, which have received votes than are not less than the votes needed for the election of an independent candidate under Item 2.1, will be included in the allocation of seats.

4.2. The number of seats that will be allocated to the candidate lists under Item 4.1 according to the H-NM. This number, M, is the number of municipal councillors less the number of independent candidates elected under Item 2.1.

4.3. Each candidate list will be awarded a number of seats according to H-NM.

4.4. Where the number of seats for a particular candidate list under Item 4.3 is greater than the number of candidates on the list, this list will be awarded as many seats as are the candidates on it.

4.5. The seats under Items 4.3 and 4.4 will be individualised by preferential voting.

V. Individualising Seats

5.1. The elected candidates from each candidate list of a party or coalition with X seats won will be determined according to the number of valid preferences received under Article 437 (4) and (5) herein and the ranking of the candidates on the list.

5.2. (Amended, SG No. 39/2016, effective 26.05.2016) The preferences for a particular candidate on the candidate list will be valid if the number of votes received for the candidate is not lesser than 7 per cent of votes cast for the candidate list.

5.3. Where there are no candidates under Item 5.2, the ranking of the candidate list will be retained.

5.4. Where there are candidates under Item 5.2, they will be ranked according to the number of preferences received, starting from the candidate who has received the greatest number of valid preferences. These candidates will be excluded from the candidate list of the respective party or coalition and will comprise List A. If the number of preferences is equal, the order will be determined by lots. The rest of the candidates on the candidate list will retain their initial ranking on the list and will comprise List B.

5.5. The first X candidates from the lists under Item 5.3. or 5.4 will be elected.

5.6. The lists under Item 5.3 or 5.4 will be retained upon substitution in case of interruption or termination of the term of office of an elected candidate.

VI. Unregulated Matters

6.1. The Central Election Commission will adopt a decision on any unregulated matters.
